“Dixie Coskie was hit by a one-two punch that would have knocked most of us out of the ring. She remains standing, triumphant, ready to face whatever may come her way, with a story of hope and patience that will help others confronting unimagined challenges.”
— Joel Herskowitz, MD, Pediatric Neurologist, Boston Univ. School of Medicine

“Unthinkable gave me powerful insight and perspective. This narrative is important for clinicians who treat patients with neurological injuries, like TBI, as well as for the families who have been touched by it, to remind us that the power of family can be the best medicine.”
— Lisa Brown, Physical Therapist, Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital-Boston

“Unthinkable will leave you reeling. You will tear through its pages—so searing, raw and full of desperate hope—breathless with the need to find out what happens to Dixie’s family. Their journey will inspire you to live life to the fullest, to fight for faith in the midst of unthinkable tragedy, and, above all, to never underestimate the power of love.”
— Katrin Schumann, co-author of Mothers Need Time Outs, Too (McGraw-Hill)

“Unthinkable opened my eyes to the real and powerful emotions, hardships and obstacles that families face after traumatic brain injury and throughout recovery and the long rehabilitation process.”
— Amy Pasternak, Doctor of Physical Therapy, Franciscan’s Hospital for Children

UNTHINKABLE: A Mother’s Tragedy, Terror, and Triumph through A Child’s Traumatic Brain Injury

What if the unthinkable happened?

UNTHINKABLE reveals the secrets of a mother’s soul as she faces the possibility of death or life-long disabilities of her child. First shocked with horror and despair after her son’s traumatic brain injury, Dixie Fremont-Smith Coskie and her family grow to find hope, healing, and even greater love.

Dixie’s narrative of how she came to find the simplest of things important—when her son is able to blink his eyelids again, lift his finger, utter a word—is powerful, moving and very real. It will bring you into a realm where body, mind, and spirit are pushed to their limits, sharing hope, strength, and inspiration.

Through one mother’s intensely personal account of surviving tragedy, UNTHINKABLE is filled with the power and perseverance of the human spirit and universal lessons about struggle and triumph.
